

When Is It Ok To Copy Other People?

*Very Cool
Visuals*

I am a kid. I go to school almost every day. When I am at school, I see people doing lots of different things. Sometimes, I want to do those things too!

It can be a good idea to copy people who are doing what is expected.

This may mean lining up when my class is getting in line, sitting in my spot when my class is sitting down to listen to the teacher, or dancing with the group when the class is taking a break.
